PRATT COMMUNITY COLLEGE Automotive Technology

PCC Automotive Meets with Students at Cars for Charities Car Show

There was a great turnout at the Cars for Charities Rod & Custom Car Show at Century II in Wichita. PCC faculty and staff met with hundreds of touring high school students and members of the public. They got to show off the race car and a brand new electric Ford Lightning truck, plus give an award to an owner with a truck on display.

A lot of logistics and planning go into traveling and presenting at a car show. Pratt Automotive Instructor Phil Spillman explains the benefit of being on location.

"It is always great exposure for the auto program and the college itself. We had quite a few conversations with ones who did not know who we were or what we did, so it was good to get to fill them in about all we offer as a college. With having the fully electric Lightning there, we were able to show that we are committed to keeping up and training with the newest technology so our students are actually prepared for real world work. Most are glad as well to see the trades being promoted and taught and find it very impressive that the students are doing live work and actually have been used to build our race cars."

Beavers Get Big Win on the Road at Hutch

The Pratt Community College men's basketball team traveled an hour down KS 61 highway on January 25 for a matchup against the Hutch Blue Dragons.

Hutchinson jumped out to an early ten-point lead 14-4 with 16:45 left in the half. The Beavers slowly started chipping away at the lead and cut the game to within five points 23-28 with 11:26 left. At the 4:12 mark of the first half Pratt had cut it down to three points 46-43. The Blue Dragons would lead by one point 56-57 at half. Pratt never tied the game or had a lead in the first half of play.

That all changed in the first 11 seconds of the second half when Pratt went up 58-57. By the first media timeout of the half Pratt lead by five 70-65. The Blue Dragons managed to take the lead back by two points 77-75 with 13:09 left. Hutch held that lead until the 6:55 mark when the Beavers took a one-point lead 91-90. At the last media timeout of the half Pratt lead 100-94. Pratt held the lead the rest of the half until the Blue Dragons tied the game 111-111 off a three-point basket with 3 seconds left.

Overtime was competitive as the game was tied two times with five lead changes through the first three minutes. Pratt took their final lead of the game with 1:07 remaining in the period. The Beavers won the game 130-126 with the help of five out of six made free throws in the last 17 seconds.

This game is the most combined points scored in a conference matchup thus far this season. Both Sterling Young and Quintin Metcalf had big nights both scoring 28 points. DJ Bailey came off the bench with 21 points while Chidibere Obichere finished with 18 points. Qai Kellman had 16 points while Aviel Palmer had his second game in double digits with 11. Pratt managed the upset while being outrebounded 51-37 and turning the ball over 23 times.

CELEBRATE DIVERSITY TEAM

The Origins of Black History Month

Black History Month is an annual celebration of achievements by African Americans and a time for recognizing their central role in U.S. history. Also known as African American History Month, the event grew out of “Negro History Week,” the brainchild of noted historian Carter G. Woodson and other prominent African Americans.

Since 1976, every U.S. president has officially designated the month of February as Black History Month. Other countries around the world, including Canada and the United Kingdom, also devote a month to celebrating Black history.

Origins of Black History Month

The story of Black History Month begins in 1915, half a century after the Thirteenth Amendment abolished slavery in the United States.

That September, the Harvard-trained historian Carter G. Woodson and the prominent minister Jesse E. Moorland founded the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History (ASNLH), an organization dedicated to researching and promoting achievements by Black Americans and other peoples of African descent.

In the decades that followed, mayors of cities across the country began issuing yearly proclamations recognizing “Negro History Week.” By the late 1960s, thanks in part to the civil rights movement and a growing awareness of Black identity, “Negro History Week” had evolved into Black History Month on many college campuses.

President Gerald Ford officially recognized Black History Month in 1976, calling upon the public to “seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of Black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout our history.” Today, Black History Month is a time to honor the contributions and legacy of African Americans across U.S. history and society—from activists and civil rights pioneers such as Harriet Tubman, Sojourner Truth, Marcus Garvey, Martin Luther King Jr., Malcolm X and Rosa Parks to leaders in industry, politics, science, culture and more.

Black History Month 2023 Theme

Since 1976, every American president has designated February as Black History Month and endorsed a specific theme.

The Black History Month 2023 theme featured on History.com, “Black Resistance,” explores how “African Americans have resisted historic and ongoing oppression, in all forms, especially the racial terrorism of lynching, racial pogroms and police killings,” since the nation’s earliest days.

Visit the Association for the Study Of African American Life and History website to learn more about “Black Resistance”.
